

Professor or Associate Professor – Vecellio Construction Engineering and Management Program

The Charles E. Via, Jr. Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering (CEE) at Virginia Tech invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the Full Professor rank for the Vecellio Professorship in Construction Engineering and Management effective August 2020. Outstanding applicants will also be considered for appointment at the Associate Professor rank. A Ph.D. degree in Civil Engineering or a closely aligned field is required. Registration as a Professional Engineer (PE) is desirable but not required. Evidence of strong scholarship, research, teaching and external funding is required and experience in academic leadership is desirable.

The successful candidate will contribute to the Department's Vecellio Construction Engineering and Management Program (VCEMP), including pursuit of collaborative and transdisciplinary research opportunities. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to scholarly work, sponsored research, undergraduate instruction, and specialized graduate education. Candidates are expected to have a nationally recognized record of research and scholarship that has focused on issues of national or global significance in the built environment. The successful applicant will also be encouraged to pursue opportunities to participate in multidisciplinary and transdisciplinary 21st-century global challenges, such as intelligent infrastructure, smart design and construction or sustainable development. The candidate must be able to contribute to the instructional mission, including teaching practice-oriented courses. VCEMP has excellent facilities to support its research, education and outreach initiatives.

A candidate appointed to the Vecellio Professorship will be responsible for stewardship and management of the VCEMP Vecellio Endowment. This gift provides funding for undergraduate scholarships, graduate fellowships, an annual distinguished lecture series, and the named Vecellio professorship. The CEE Department is home to 51 tenure-track faculty members, including several early career awardees, holders of endowed professorships, and National Academy members, as well as approximately 350 full-time graduate students and 625 undergraduate students. The Via Endowment allows the CEE department to offer a significant amount of scholarships and fellowships to qualified students.

Applicants must provide a cover letter, contact information for three professional references, a candidate statement discussing teaching, research, and professional goals, and a current CV. Those wishing further information about the search process may contact Dr. Michael J. Garvin, Faculty Search Committee Chair, The Charles E. Via, Jr. Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, 200 Patton Hall, Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA 24061-0105 or at garvin@vt.edu. Review of applications will begin November 11, 2019. Applicants are required to apply online at <https://jobs.vt.edu> and should use posting number 511246.

Virginia Tech is a public land-grant university, committed to teaching and learning, research, and worldwide outreach. Building on its motto of Ut Prosim (that I may serve), Virginia Tech is dedicated to serving in the spirit of community, diversity, and excellence. The mission of the CEE Department is to deliver a high-quality learning environment for students to gain engineering knowledge, leadership, and communication skills that will aid them to provide civil engineering leadership and service to the state, the profession, and society at large. Both the undergraduate and graduate programs are consistently ranked in the top 10 by U.S. News and World Report. Virginia Tech's main campus is located in the vibrant town of Blacksburg, VA. Blacksburg sits within the beautiful Appalachian Mountains of Southwest Virginia and is regularly ranked among the country's best places to live.

Virginia Tech does not discriminate against employees, students, or applicants on the basis of age, color, disability, sex (including pregnancy), gender, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status, or otherwise discriminate against employees or applicants who inquire about, discuss, or disclose their compensation or the compensation of other employees or applicants, or on any other basis protected by law. If you are an individual with a disability and desire accommodation please contact the hiring department or contact University ADA Services <http://oea.vt.edu/ada-accessibility-services.html> with any questions.